But I get this error: "unable to open file'myfile'" The file does exist. p4 help attach says that it is a path problem, but I don't think I'm giving any wrong path. Does anyone have any idea why I get this error? Thanks A: Are you sure the file is there and readable? Perforce has not imported the file yet, and so will not see it as one of the changesets that it is tracking, and so it will not import it as a version of the file. In order to make it appear as a version of a file, it must be opened with p4 edit and then add the file contents back as a new line. That is done with the 'a' command to add the contents of the file'myfile', followed by a 'c'. HELP: How do I find the screenshots in this patch for the glyphs and armor
