Related links: Q: Eloquent Many to Many Self Join Issue in Laravel I've been trying to figure this out since this morning, I've got two tables with a many-to-many relationship (which I did) but now I have an issue I'm not sure how to fix. The idea is that a song is linked to several genres, then the same song is linked to several artists. Artists has a created_at field and a updated_at field. Song has a genre_id and artist_id fields which I think I need to change to foreign keys, but I'm not sure how to do that and still get my results. Here are my tables: Artists Table Schema::create('artists', function (Blueprint $table) { $table->increments('id'); $table->string('name'); $table->string('thumb')->nullable(); $table->timestamps(); $table->softDeletes(); }); Genres Table Schema::create('genres', function (Blueprint $table) { $table->increments('id'); $table->string('name'); $table->timestamps(); $table->softDeletes(); }); Song Table Schema::create('songs', function (Blueprint $table) { $table->increments('id'); $table->integer('artist_id')->unsigned(); $table->foreign('artist_id')->references('id')->on('artists'); $table->integer('genre_id')->unsigned(); $table->foreign('genre_id')->references('id')->on('genres');
