【Game Design & Creation Philosophy】 1. Heroic Level Like an RPG, heroic leveling is designed to add the thrill of the hunt to the excitement of obtaining a new weapon, but there is also a way to develop a strong character that can be used as a base. 【Game Features】 • Four Hero Classes At the start of the game, you select one of four different classes: Elden Lords, Elden Knights, Elden Mages, and Elden Archer. Each class has a unique combat style, skills, and a unique story. Also, each class has a different, complementary growth method that differs from the others. As a result, each class has their own unique advantage and their own story. Each class grows by playing with one of their common growth methods. Furthermore, by leveling up the skills for that class, you can increase the chance of activating their growth skills. Since each character class is separate from the others, it allows for more original, unique content that won't be a duplicate. 2. Class War Every class has a different growth method, which allows for different level ups and growing. 3. Class Customization You can freely combine the weapons and armor that you equip. You can also develop your character as you like. 4. Unique Bond System The bond system is a system that allows the player to form and bond with other players. 5. Support That Is Asynchronous Our support for asynchronous gameplay means that you can progress while the game is in maintenance, or while the server is not in operation, and the game will operate normally. 【Development History】 Rise, Tarnished 1.0 was born from the After_Daydream Game Idea Contest 2020 held by FDG Entertainment. It was selected as the winner and developed into the game we now offer to you. 【Release Version】 The current version of the game is Rise, Tarnished 2.0. 【Release Date】 The current release version of the game will be released on November 25, 2019 (Wed.) 【Review Documents】 Here are the documents we are using to review the content of the game: 【Developer's Blog】 Developer's Blog 【

If you have ever won a big amount of money while playing on mobile or desktop casino, it is very likely that you will be familiar with the concept of wagering requirements. Wagering requirements are a form of restriction that is typically added to a bonus. They restrict the maximum amount that can be deposited into your bonus balance. In addition, it might lower the maximum cash reward that can be cashed out from the account. They often apply to a deposit bonus. Wagering requirements are shown on the site as wagering level. For example, at the Microgaming based Triad Gaming Casino you can wager as little as 0.02% to as much as 0.45% on each spin or round, depending on the bonus. When your deposit is made into the Triad Gaming Casino, you'll have a minimum of 0.02% to wager on each bet. For example, if you have a deposit bonus of $50 worth of bonus cash. And if it is from a Chain linked game then you will have to wager your first deposit of 0.02% of $50, like $0.002, or 50 cents, before you can make a withdrawal from it. Wagering requirements for real money gaming deposit bonuses are made up of a number of sub-tasks that must be completed before you can withdraw the cash reward. Many online casinos such as Triad Gaming present their players with the opportunity to redeem wagering tickets for deposits or withdrawals. Every time you wager in the set manner the casino allows you to redeem a wagering ticket for either a deposit or a withdrawal. After you redeem your ticket for a bonus, you have to wager the amount of money it is worth. Wagering tickets have their own wagering requirements just like free spins. As a matter of fact the wagering requirements of free spin bonuses are considered more attractive than regular depositing bonuses that take up to several hours of wagering requirements to redeem. Why use a wagering requirement? As mentioned before, all of these bonus situations have specific rules to be followed in order to let you withdraw the bonus cash you receive from various free spin features of online gaming sites. The wagering requirements ensure that the bonus money is completely used for your benefit. It will not allow you to go through until you have fulfilled each of the pre-established goals. A wagering requirement is a small investment for a casino that you will not have
