Work and life is a never-ending juggling act for so many of us. With great achievement comes great responsibility. The vast majority of us juggle the two with great success. But, what happens when you cross a line and fall down, are out of shape and experience fatigue. The result is fatigue and performance issues are a significant factor in productivity loss in the workplace. It happens so quietly and so often that we don't notice it and yet, it's a number one roadblock that stands between you and a more productive and fulfilled life. Fatigue is insidious, insidious because, just as fatigue is getting you down, so too are you. You fall victim to fatigue despite your best efforts. It's time for a reset. Reset that includes a new outlook, new attitude, new approach, and a new mindset. The thought processes, activities and lifestyle choices that get you into the state of fatigue cannot be allowed to continue. No, you cannot just "will" the fatigue away. The fact of the matter is that the fatigue is an outcome of poor lifestyle choices and habitual thought processes. These patterns build up and, before you know it, you find yourself in a condition of fatigue. When you are fatigued, you are not as productive, you are less effective, and your job performance suffers. So, what can we do? In my experience, the answer is quite simple. When I speak to clients or in coaching sessions, I ask them to answer the following question: If you could do it all over again, would you do it differently? This is a simple question that takes a lot of pressure off, reminds you that whatever choices you are making in your life, with every choice you make, you are creating new outcomes. With the question, we are setting the framework for self awareness and self reflection. The question becomes a real wake-up call. In the process, we also address one of the most destructive and debilitating patterns we use in life—the "saying sorry to ourselves" routine. The phrase "Saying Sorry to Yourself" is a typical example of the self fulfilling prophecy used by those of us in the throes of fatigue. What happens in our own psyche is that we start looking for reasons why we can't get up and start taking action. It could be one of a thousand reasons. That one should be powerful enough

What's New in the?

The present invention relates to a method of and an apparatus for implementing a system for a copy of a document having a given first format with a given second format including a plurality of character sets, and more particularly to a copy processing system in which a selected language of a selected character set is used. In a copy processing system wherein images of documents or characters on a document are printed out by a character set and a print process such as monochrome printing, color printing or the like, the processing capability of a copy output unit is sometimes limited by the throughput of a control section. For this reason, it is desired to optimize the processing capability of the control section. An example of a method of optimising the processing capability of the control section in the case of an input/output circuit constituted by a microcomputer having a character conversion table memory or the like is described in copending patent application Ser. No. 520,868 filed July 13, 1983, now U.S. Pat. No. 4,564,109. An input/output circuit will be considered wherein a microcomputer receives an image data of a document having a first character format, and converts the image data into a character data corresponding to a predetermined second format which can be displayed on a CRT or the like. In case of the second format, character strings are displayed in a plurality of character sets including, for example, an English, French, Japanese or other language character set, a symbol or mark character set or a kana (Japanese character) set. In the case of the former, a character set is composed of a plurality of character sets, for example, a roman character set and a chinese character set, and character codes in the chinese character set are combined to display a character by a specific character set selected in an input character code. In the latter, the character set is composed of a set of a plurality of character sets for a specific language. For example, a Japanese character set is composed of a family of Japanese characters. In this case, a character can be converted to the other character set by a specific conversion table for the other character set, and then output to a display such as a CRT. An advantage of this type of system is that a plurality of character sets can be used with one and the same document, and that a relatively high speed conversion processing in the copy output unit can be achieved. In a system wherein a document is copy output in different character sets, it is necessary to select a character
