Direct link- Football Manager 2011.Q: Binary Search Tree Function to return smallest value when given value not found I am attempting to create a function that takes the value to search for, and returns a Binary Search Tree that holds the smallest value of the given input. I am not allowed to use any data structures in this assignment, so I am using a complete tree. My question is, what should I do if given value is not found? Should I check from the left or right? It isn't very straight forward in my head. Any help or guidance would be greatly appreciated. A: If given value is not found, it means the node you are searching for doesn't exist. So you'll have to check for left and right every time. A: The naive implementation is something like struct BST { //... auto insert(const BST& b, const int& value) { if (b.root) { if (value value) { if (value left) { b.root->left = insert(b.root->left, value); } else { b.root->value = value; return b.root; } } else { if (value right) {
