The band is made up of guitarists Gemma Muriel and Finn Wardlaw, keyboardist/vocals Dave Dickin and drummer/vocalist/bassist Sarah Copeland. History Originally formed in 2007 by singer-quitarist Finn Wardlaw, the band's original lineup was completed by drummer to Francis and bassist/keyboardist Sarah Copeland. The band signed to Music for Pleasure and released the EP Waves in February 2010, a title also used for the band's debut album. The EP contains the song "Reaching Out to You", the lead single for the album, released digitally and physically in May 2010. The debut album was recorded in Oxford, initially with producer Charlie Benjamin (Yeasayer, Courteeners, the Gutter Twins), before evolving into a more self-recorded affair with producer James Sanger (The Stands, Giles Brunt, Ido). The Bastard Fingers' debut album, You've Stolen My Heart, was released on 29 March 2011 in the UK, and 22 April in the United States. The album made the Sunday Times Top Ten Albums Chart and spent 8 weeks in the Indie Album Chart top 40. It received critical acclaim, being awarded four stars in Drowned in Sound, and was featured in NME as one of their Top 40 British albums. You've Stolen My Heart was also selected as one of the best albums of 2011 by The Guardian. "You've Stolen My Heart is as intoxicating as the best distillation of the sweeter end of British hardcore punk, the stuff that made the likes of the Buzzcocks of the world so great. It's smart, it's vicious, it's catchy, it's fun, and it's very, very good." -Louise
