IL-10 induces a wide range of cellular responses, suggesting that its activity is predominantly dependent on the expression of a soluble receptor complex comprising IL-10 and soluble IL-10 receptor (sIL-10R) chains. This cytokine is thought to be produced by activated CD4+ T cells and to bind to circulating IL-10R, forming complexes that may be internalized and then released from the plasma membrane. The study presented here demonstrates that murine bone marrow-derived macrophages, macrophage cell line RAW264.7 and mouse peritoneal macrophages release IL-10 in soluble form and that these IL-10 are largely retained in the cell, unable to bind to the cell surface receptors. IL-10 could be released from cells by brief exposure to tumor necrosis factor alpha (TNF-alpha). TNF-alpha is also known to induce IL-10R on surface of cells. By binding to IL-10, however, cell surface-associated IL-10R was markedly enhanced, and IL-10R could be transferred to neighboring cells. Thus, the cell-associated IL-10 may function as a cytokine to transmit signals via cell-cell contact. Soluble IL-10R efficiently bound IL-10 and enhanced IL-10/IL-10R binding, indicating that the ligand/IL-10R complex can rapidly form when IL-10 and sIL-10R are present together. Moreover, recombinant IL-10 was also bound by soluble IL-10R, suggesting that IL-10 can induce the formation of the IL-10/sIL-10R complex within the cell. These results indicate that the IL-10/sIL-10R complex formation and sIL-10R-mediated internalization of IL-10 cytokine may be modulated in a ligand-dependent manner. A: First off, I had never heard of the idiom voler un boss before I saw your question. Second, they are different. Voler un boss is most often used when an animal is found to be missing. Someone was talking about having "lost" a big animal like a cow or a horse. I'm not sure exactly how this phrase works, but I know that for example it means that a boss failed to appear for work. EDIT As a complement to my answer I thought I'd add that you could find voler un boss in the dictionary and see that voler (here the verb "to go" is conjugated) is a frequent way of referring to some act of stealing or taking someone's belongings. A: Voler is one of the verbs that have only one part of the 3 possibilities that they can be conjugated in. That means that all of them can be presented in two different ways, but one is more common than the others. The two most common forms are: Voler: voler (to) (a) Décrocher: décrocher (from, to) Voler un boss : voler un boss Décrocher un boss : décrocher un boss You can see what is more common and what is less common by listening to it; in French, some forms sound more natural than others. The verb voler has an

I know that one day you will tell me all about it." " And I want to know so badly." " Okay." "I want to know what happened." "I just kept thinking about it." "I kept trying to see it, but I couldn't." "I knew that it had to be there." "The way the lightning flickers between the clouds and the ground, and the way that I felt when I met you the first time." "I just knew that I had to learn about love." "I mean, I knew that was something out there, and I just knew one day, I'd feel it." "It's true." "I thought you might say that." "So I just knew I had to." "You've gotta be careful when it comes to love." " There's this..." " I don't know..." "There's this thing called jealousy." " Jealousy?" " Yeah, you know." "Like, when you fall in love with somebody and you think everybody in the world should be so lucky to be loved by you." "Well, it's not jealousy." "There's this other thing called love." " Do you want to hear me sing?" " Yes." "All right." " I knew that one day you would ask me." " Thank you." " Are you excited?" " Yes." "Of course, I'm excited." "And I've also started to feel a little nervous." "I told you, you should never be nervous." "Never be nervous." "Because you know how I feel about you." "You know how I feel about you." "Hello?" "Come here." "I'm sorry." "I'm gonna go back to sleep." "I love you." "I love you too." "I do." "I want you to know
