Q: Finding way to create an overflow div that will cut off I'm trying to create an overflow div that will cut off when the div resizes but I can't seem to make it work. I've used overflow:hidden but that seems to just hide what is in the div, not cut off what is outside the div. I've also tried to add a width and height, adding them as a percentage, but that didn't seem to do anything. Is there something I can add to the div so it will just cut it off? I want the edges to be at the edge of the screen. Here's an image of what I've done so far: image of what I've done so far
