Q: replace() with multiple characters with jquery I'm using replace to replace a string with a different string, but when I try to add more characters in the first argument, like so: `$('.selector').replace(/foo/, 'bar');` I get an error stating: error: Syntax error, unrecognized expression: /foo/ Obviously, this is because it's attempting to parse the second argument, and not the first. How do I pass more than one value to replace? Note: I only need to replace one of the values, and not both. If I try this: `$('.selector').replace(/foo/, 'bar');` `$('.selector').replace(/bar/, 'foo');` I get two errors, even though both values should have the same result. A: If you pass a string to `replace(..)` that contains a regex literal then you need to escape the backslashes and use `\\` instead of `\`: `$('.selector').replace(/foo\\/, 'bar');`

A: You can do it like `6d1f23a050`
