I've been working on some little filters that will let you produce certain frequencies from an audio. Example; producing the higher frequencies from vocal in a kick drum. To try this the vocals need to be recorded in mono. Also, you'd need to have an audio track to dub in a lower frequency track. Well I released Auto-Tune Pro as a plugin, now I have thought of this and I thought I'd share it with you guys. The first one is called Dubstar Resonance. This filter can be used to filter out some of the resonance in vocal, guitar or any other instrument that creates resonance. To try this you'd need to do 2 things. First you need to tune the resonant frequency. To tune the resonant frequency you need a pan that has a constant frequency. An example would be the Piano Tuner plugin from Circuit. I've also included a video tutorial on how to tune the resonant frequency. Step 1: Select the instrument you want to use the Resonance filter on. Step 2: Choose the Resonance filter. Step 3: If your audio in mono then select Mono or if your audio is stereo then choose Stereo. Step 4: Choose the Resonant frequency you want to tune. Step 5: Click Update.
