Jual Komik Digital Tiger Wong full pdf Jual Komik Digital Tiger Wong LengkapQ: Android: Is there any reason that I would want to save an Object in Shared Preferences? I am writing an android app where I have a user rank. When a user is logged in, he/she can gain points by doing various tasks such as checking in to a business and completing a survey. What I want to do is to save the user's points so that the user can see how he/she has gotten. Here is my code:

SharedPreferences prefs =
getSharedPreferences("rank_data", MODE_PRIVATE); SharedPreferences.Editor
edit = prefs.edit();
edit.putInt("rank_points", rankPoints);
edit.apply();

Is there any reason that I would want to do this? Will there be a negative impact to the user in any way? I am new to android and programming in general. A: In general you would want to do this if you had a preference between different users on the same device (for things like login/logout times, user rank, etc.) You could also do this if you have one main user of a "game" and want to save that user's current progress for the whole duration of the game (if that user gains 5 points from participating in the game, those points would be associated with that user). Given your scenario, there is no reason why you would want to do this. Edit: As noted in the comments, if you want to keep track of user progress, you could create a DB based on the user ID that keeps track of it. With the DB structure of your app, it would be easy to increment the DB value to keep track of that user's progress. h e u n i t s d i g i t o f y ? 3 W h a t i s t h e u 6d1f23a050
