samsung intelli studio 3.0 download samsung intelli studio 3.0 download I have to purchase internet service from my sister who is living in the US. I need my exchange to use network adapter to dial into the internet. What I did is to set up my computer with my personal DNS which is already registered with the telecom company. The company would provide me with their DNS name also but I don't need it. So my question is, when I have the DNS name of my sister, how can I make sure that people, when they type in the domain name "XXX123456" automatically go to my sister's IP address? Is it possible? I have no idea what server their DNS is registered to. I have no clue if their DNS would be using the SOA server or anything. What do I need to do to make sure that people typing in "XXX123456" automatically goes to my sister's IP address? What DNS can I use to make sure it would always route to my sister's address? Could someone please help me? I would really appreciate it if someone can help me. *You mentioned. "I have to purchase internet service from my sister who is living in the US." You could setup PPPOE with a dial-up modem and the local ISP using the IP address given by your sister's ISP as the your DNS to replace the default DNS of your router. *You mentioned. "I need my exchange to use network adapter to dial into the internet." If you're on DSL you can't connect to the internet with a PPPOE connection as DSL routers don't know how to make a PPPOE connection. If the ISP is providing you with an IP address, you could setup a static IP (dynamic) address and then add it to the network settings of the router.
