Free Download software for microsoft office 2010 Q: Trying to load a view with a CGImage in it and getting an EXC_BAD_ACCESS with a zombie in an ARC application I'm trying to load an image in a UIView like this: UIGraphicsBeginImageContextWithOptions(view.bounds.size, NO, 0); [view.layer renderInContext:UIGraphicsGetCurrentContext()]; UIImage *image = UIGraphicsGetImageFromCurrentImageContext(); UIGraphicsEndImageContext(); But after calling UIGraphicsEndImageContext, I'm getting an EXC_BAD_ACCESS error, but the weird thing is that I don't think I have an ARC application. I've checked that it's not a memory issue and that the image is still in memory as I can display it into a UIImageView with no problems. I get it that in this code I'm just rendering a new view and just passing it to the current graphics context. What I'm sure of is that this code is being called in the viewDidLoad of the VC, like this: CGContextRef context = UIGraphicsGetCurrentContext(); [mSquareDraw setContext:context]; And it works fine, even if I was using an older version. This is the NSZombieEnabled environment flag, do you think that it might be connected? A: The issue was that I was calling UIGraphicsGetCurrentContext() in a block used for animation, but it was being released when the exception happened. I just moved the code in the block of the method that gets called from the viewDidLoad of the VC. Thanks everyone. package org.osmdroid.samplefragments.graphicsviews; import android.content.res.Resources; import android.graphics.Color; import android.graphics.Typeface; import android.os.Bundle; import android.support.v4.app.Fragment; import android.support.v7.app.ActionBar; import android.support.v7.app.ActionBarActivity; import android.support.v7.widget.Toolbar; import android.view.LayoutInflater; import android.view.Menu; import android.view.
